Wellness as a daily habit

The need to take care of oneself with continuity is increasingly widespread.

Psycho-physical well-being is closely related to life style, to nutrition choices, to physical activity and to sleep quality.

Taking care of yourself and nurturing your well-being as a good daily practice is the best way to stay healthy for a long time.

Having a healthier approach to life means loving oneself, day in and day out.

Improving the quality of sleep, lowering the levels of stress and treating oneself to moments of profound relaxation, are all key activities to maintaining harmony between one's body and mind.

It is scientifically proven that the right amount of rest together with specific Wellness programs, realised according to one's own needs, favour the strengthening of the body and of its immune system.

Wellness whenever you want, wherever you want

The creation of a Wellness space at home helps to feel good and live well every day.

Using a spa regularly allows to enhance the benefits and assess the results first hand, while discovering the unique pleasure of relaxation and regeneration before facing a new day, or to end it on a high note.

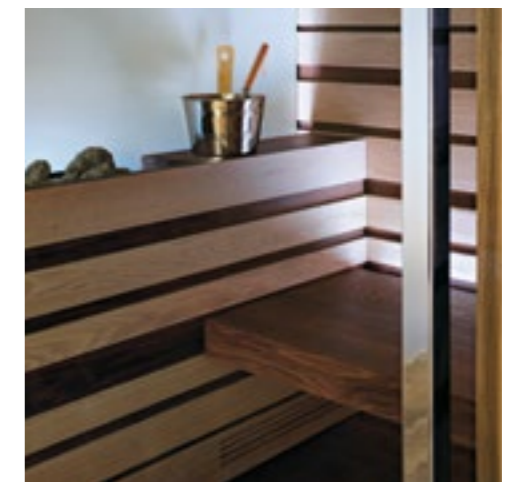

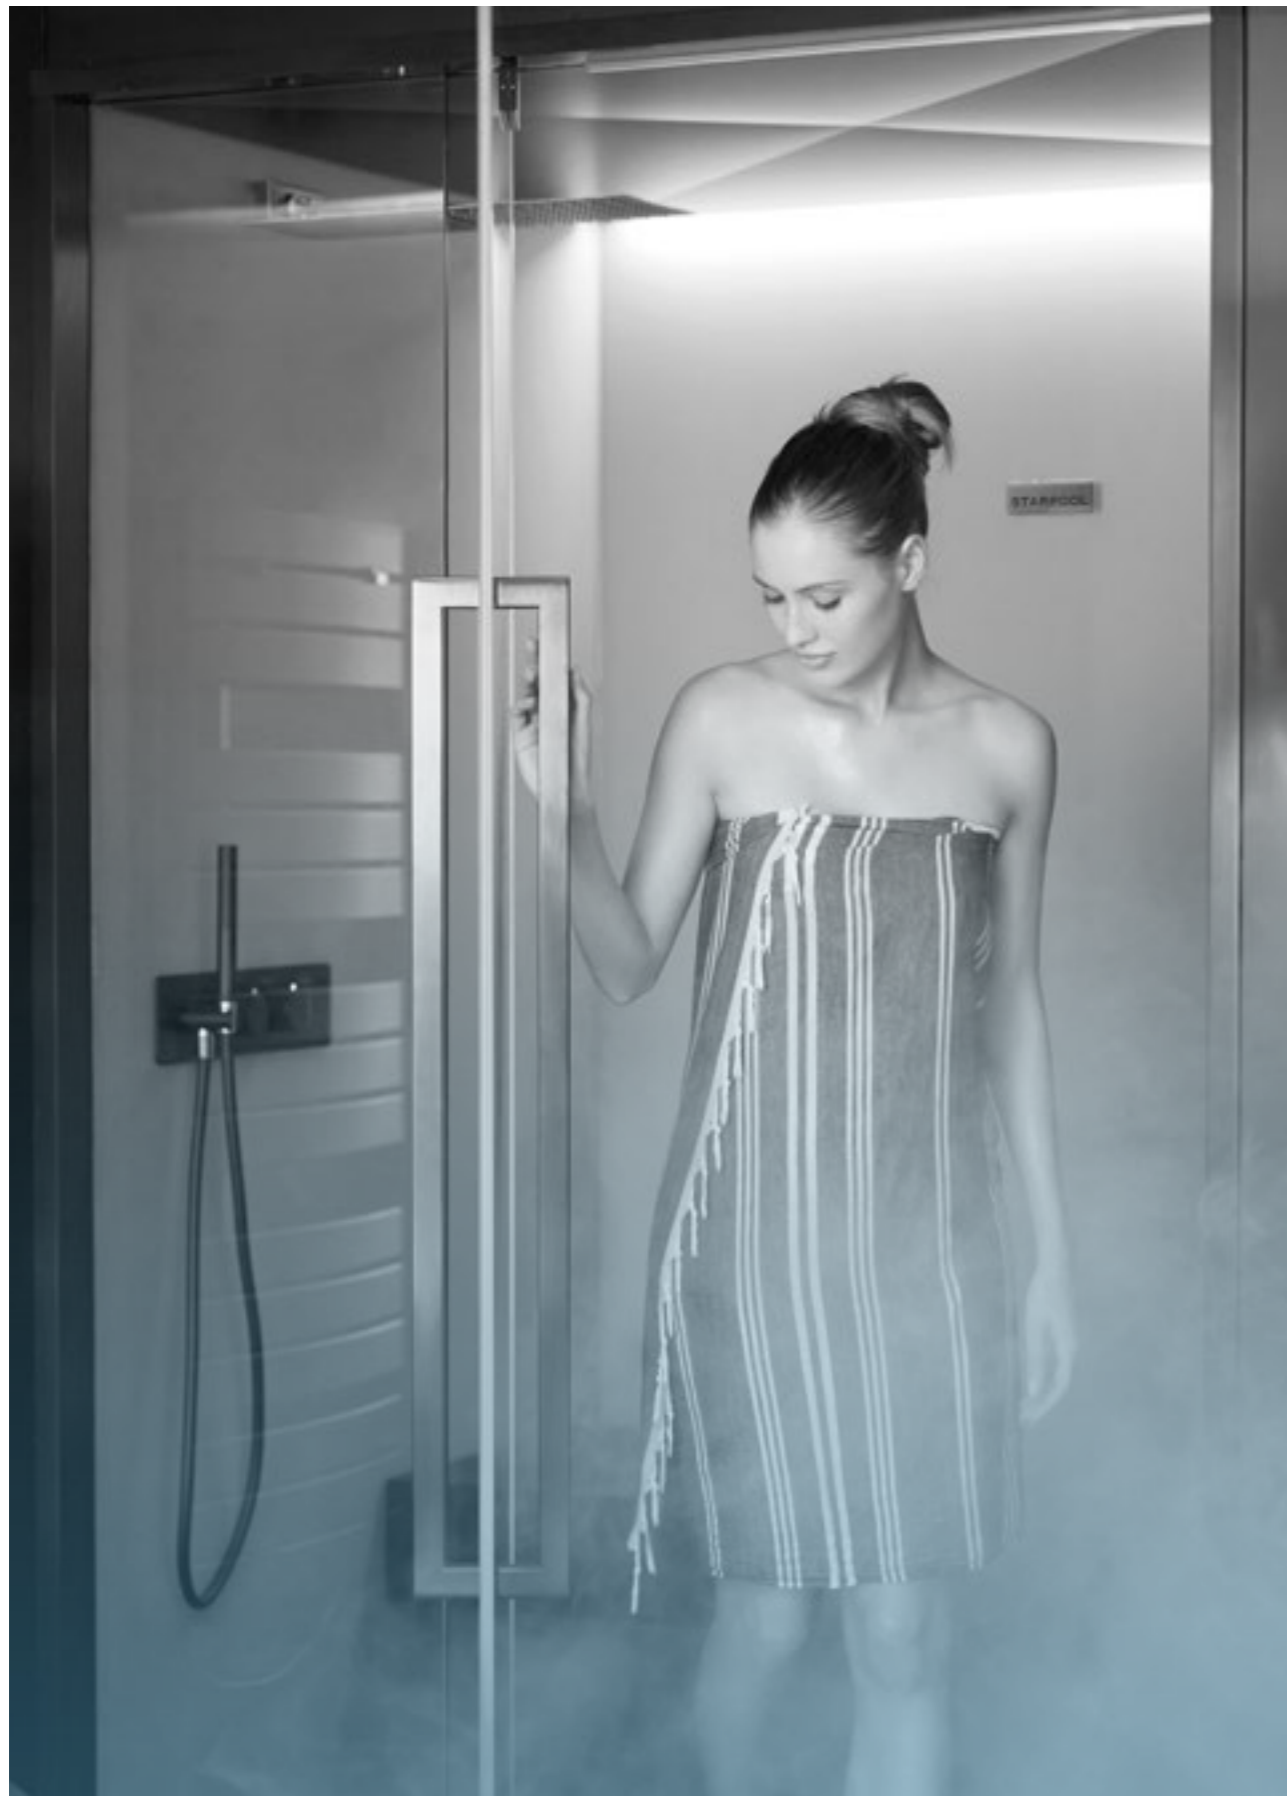

Why choose us?

We bring wellness to your doorstep, to enjoy all the benefits of a spa without leaving home while discovering the unique pleasure of relaxation and regeneration in total harmony with yourself.

Complete, functional and cutting-edge Wellness solutions characterised by exclusive and modern design, that blend perfectly in the taste, colours and shapes of your home.

Choice of materials, unmistakable style, technological innovation and careful designing: all the quality of a professional spa right at home.

The Starpool method

Our mission is to take care of people, favouring psycho-physical balance.

The Starpool method expresses our idea of wellness, which revolves around the individual, ensuring benefits for both body and mind, and is based on innovation and scientific research.

We reinterpreted the cultural heritage of the spa tradition from a modern perspective, exploring the many representations of wellness with a multidisciplinary approach.

We work with leading figures in the fields of medicine, sport and neuroscience to provide effective and safe methods of use for our equipment, and we pour our acquired knowledge into products and services.

A constant research activity allows us to have the tools to design cutting-edge Wellness Solutions for the home environment.

Offering wellness requires knowledge, competence and skills.

We make our experience available to those who want to create a private spa with the same comforts of the large Wellness centres.

Heat, water, and rest: back to basics

The origins of the Starpool method lie in thermalism and its thousand-year old tradition, which makes up our DNA: heat, water, rest.

The alternation of these three moments allows us to create innovative Wellness solutions, now attested by scientific research, that can provide authentic psycho-physical benefits through actual multi-sensory programs.

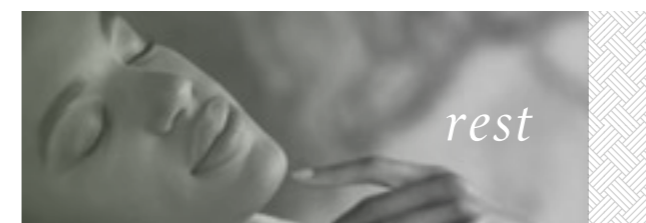

On this formula, we have also defined a system of space designing which is based on the perfect succession of these three phases, to ensure people's well-being from a scientific standpoint.

The starting point of every wellness experience, heat is the fundamental element in saunas and steam baths, where the body reacts to overheating by activating the cardiovascular system and triggering beneficial perspiration.

Water is the fundamental element of cold reactions, which allow the body to rebalance its temperature after being exposed to intense heat and to trigger a series of beneficial psycho-physical reactions.

Rest is the state in which our body experiences relaxation and psycho-physical regeneration. This condition is necessary to make the most of your wellness experience.

offer*

A modern bathroom with a wooden beam ceiling, stone walls, and a glass shower enclosure. The room features a large window with a view of a snowy landscape, a white vanity with two sinks, and a glass shower enclosure with a wooden bench. A large, dark, antler-like chandelier hangs from the ceiling. The floor is made of light-colored wood planks, and a textured rug is placed in the foreground.

We revolve around individuals and their health with methods, products and services that come from tradition and are perfected through innovation. Combined, they show all of the art they are capable of.

Products that are transformed into actual décor objects which can be aesthetically adjusted to every room of the house and that meet the desire of those who want to live a Wellness experience in a private environment.

OUR HOME WELLNESS OFFER

Finnish Sauna

INTENSE HEAT

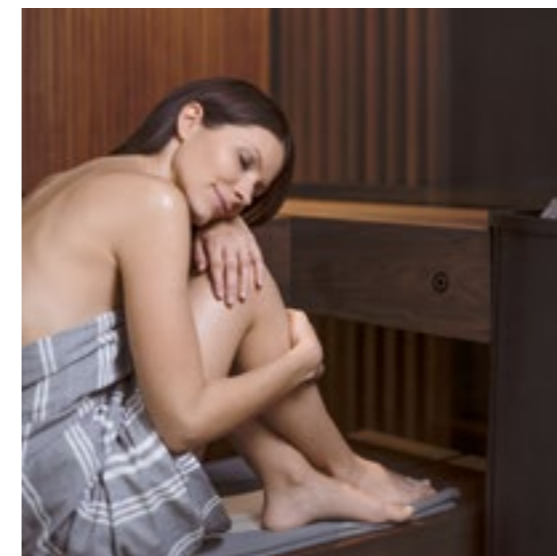

It is the traditional Finnish sauna.

The dry and intense heat inside it, reaching a temperature of about 80-100 °C, envelops the guest in an energetic hug, regenerating body and mind, while the wood conveys an intense and strong sensory experience.

The Finnish sauna is the ideal cabin where to relax, reduce stress, strengthen the airways, relax your muscles, oxygenate your tissues and train your cardiovascular system.

GREEN PACK

Our Research & Development department developed a system to improve the functions of our products. By installing Green Pack, it is possible to reduce energy consumption thanks to smart detectors that prevent needless steam leakage, control the heat and humidity of the environment, and maintain a constant temperature through the energy load management. A sophisticated system that allows an average of 20% energy saving.

SIM 4.0

Telemetry for each installed spa product, it is a type of software that allows to constantly measure the essential parameters of the equipment. It monitors the usage of the products, detects any drop in performance, as well as anomalies and alarms. It controls the energy load in real time, so that it is possible to intervene before the problem occurs. The monitoring of the spa from our Control Room allows our technicians to provide prompt, inexpensive remote action and prevent anomalies and malfunctions.
